

Packing list	Comments
Backpack for day hiking	In neutral colors - Green, brown, Khaki, black, camouflage. No yellow, red, white or any other bright colors
Good Binoculars	A must have!
Comfortable walking shoes/boots	"Break in" a new pair. You'll need to protect against grass and seeds. Leather sock covering is also an option. Sneakers are not recommended
A pair of sandals	A fast-drying one is recommended
Shower shoes	Optional but recommended
Shorts and shirts/blouses	In neutral colors. "Dry fit" shirts is recommended
Long-sleeved shirts and trousers	For chilly nights. Also provide additional protection against insects
A fleece or jersey	In neutral colors
A thick jacket,	If your course is May-August
Woolly hat, gloves, thick socks	If your course is May-August
A light rain jacket/poncho	During rain season (November-April)
A "bush jacket"	Optional. Can help with photographic gear. In Neutral colors.
A sarong/ kikoi	Optional. Useful in hot weather
Swimming/bathing suit
Wide brimmed hat or cap	Well-camouflaged; often this is the only part visible during wildlife walks
Sunglasses
Camera and spare batteries
A lens cleaning set (brush, cloth, spray)	Good also for cleaning binoculars and glasses electric plug converter kit	Botswana uses Type D or Type G.
Torch with spare batteries	Very important for walking around the camp
A LED head-torch	Extremely useful and highly recommended
Large reusable water bottle (2L min)	Camelbak tank is also useful. You can bring two smaller bottles
A travel mug	Useful if you want to take a coffee-to-go in mornings
sealable plastic bags	recommended
Sunblock lotion (50+)	Very important. Sun is strong
Personal toiletries	Tooth brush, paste, soap, shampoo, shaving gear etc.
Personal medication	Including anti-malaria prophylaxis if you need, diarrhea pills, Lip balm
Personal first-Aid of choice	The camp will have a first-aid kit as well

[illegible]